National Conference

Asbestos in schools: revealing the hidden killer

This conference, organised by the Joint Union Asbestos Committee (JUAC), is the first to take place about asbestos, the hidden killer in our schools. To learn more, join our expert speakers including Rachel Reeves MP, asbestos campaigners, trade unions, medical practitioners, the Health and Safety Executive and the Department for Education.

What will delegates gain?

- A better understanding of the hidden dangers and long term risks to the health that asbestos poses to pupils and school staff
- An understanding of the steps to take to manage asbestos

Who is the conference for?

Teachers, school leaders, governors, parents, school support staff, health and safety representatives, union local officers, Local Authority and Academy Trust staff - but all are welcome.

When: Tuesday 4 July 2017 10.30am - 3.30pm Registration from 10.00am

About the Joint Union Asbestos Committee

Founded in 2010, Joint Union Asbestos Committee (JUAC) is a non-party political campaign. JUAC protects education workers by raising awareness of asbestos in schools and promoting improved management of asbestos in education sector buildings. JUAC aims to make UK schools and colleges safe from the dangers of asbestos, both for staff and pupils.

The JUAC members are representatives from the trade unions ASCL, ATL, GMB, NAHT, NASUWT, NUT, UNISON, Unite the Union and Voice.
